re, Wilson, as champion of the re, replied to Governor O'Neal, ad previously denounced them insidious popular vagaries. The re executive was on his feet in front with an impassioned defense of his position.
Governor O'Neal spoke vehemently

ELIMINATE COMMONPLACE
FROM BANQUET FOR TAFT

DENVER, Sept. 12.—The banquet in honor of President Taft at El Jebel temple October 3 will be as distinctively Coloradoan as the special committee of the chamber of commerce in charge can possibly make it. Black speckled native trout from the mountain streams will be one of the courses served. Vegetables grown in the high plateaus of this state will also be on the menu.
An effort will be made to get late strawberries, Colorado columbines and horse chestnuts from Ohio, the native state of the president, will adorn the walls. Everything of an ordinary, everyday nature will be eliminated.

GOVERNORS IN CAMPAIGN FOR SLASH OVER MEASURES

Will Start Today to Raise Needed Funds for Dry Farming Congress

An enthusiastic meeting of the finance committee of the International Dry Farming congress was held yesterday morning in the office of R. W.
Chisholm, a member of the committee.
The purpose of the meeting was to perfect plans by which the funds necessary to carry on the work of the congress might be raised by public subscription. About 20 members of the committee were present and Colorado Springs, Colorado City and Manitou were divided into 20 districts, each man being given his particular district in which to work. The committee will start its active solicitation campaign this morning and little doubt is felt that any difficulty will be met in raising the $7,500 which the committee deems necessary to carry on the work of the congress.

"We are going into this thing to win," said W. S. Dunning, chairman of the committee, yesterday afternoon.
"Colorado Springs cannot and will not fall down on this congress which is one of the biggest things which has ever happened to us. We are going to carry it off with honors and have the whole world talking about the greatness of Colorado as a state and the hospitality and wonders of Colorado Springs. The advertising which we will get from this congress alone, to say nothing of the great numbers of people who will be in attendance, will more than repay any merchants or business men for the amount of money which he donates at this time to the cause. We've got to get the money and there are 20 of us who are going to put our shoulders to the wheel tomorrow and go after it."

Broncho, Motives Unknown, Wrecks City Drug Store

Pungent odors from mingling asa-fetida, turpentine, ammonia, alcohol and carbolic acid permeated the atmosphere of the 600 block in Colorado city, last night, when a crazed broncho thrashed madly about the interior of the McIntosh drug store. And through it all odors, falling showcases and overturning prescription counter—the broncho's rider sat, unscathed and unafraid, even though his mount was being cut horribly by the crashing window panes and breaking bottles.

With the fracture of each bottle of odorous drug, the horse seemed to gain additional frenzy, and pranced in an orgy of destruction among the debris until he had succeeded in causing about $2,000 worth of damage. The presence of a large brass cuspidor at the end of the prescription counter checked the animal in its wild career.
Its right foreleg became fastened in the vessel and the broncho stumbled and fell.

The rider, Clyde Wilbert, is employed by the Pioneer livery of Manitou. He stopped in front of a hot tamala stand across the street, when his broncho took a sudden fancy to the bright lights of McIntosh's drug store.
Before Wilbert could check the animal in any way, it had dashed through the heavy plate glass of the show window and started upon its Carriage Nation-like career. The sound of crashing glass brought many spectators hurrying to the scene, but none dared enter the store to aid in stopping the infuriated beast.

The proprietor of the store said last night that practically his entire stock was wrecked. He carried insurance on his plate glass window only. The horse so badly injured that it died.
Wilbert was uninjured.

QUESTION OF STRIKE UP TO RANK AND FILE OF SHOPMEN

CHICAGO, Sept. 12.—The question of a strike of Illinois Central railroad shopmen, without the aid of the International Association of Machinists, will be threshed out by the rank and file before further action is taken by the international labor officials in charge of the situation here. This was decided at a conference today of international officials representing the nine crafts involved.

It was definitely known yesterday that the refusal of the International Association of Machinists to back, financially, the shopmen in the proposed walkout, sidetracked plans of the Illinois Central federation system leaders. This resulted in the calling of another conference of international officials for the purpose of formulating an announcement, setting forth all of the facts, pointing out what the men would have to contend with in the event of a strike, and asking for another strike vote.

The communication was drafted by the conference committee this afternoon.

THE ANNUAL CROP COLLEGE WORK BEGINS TODAY

NEW STUDENTS NUMBER
MORE THAN 600

Additions to Faculty Announced Annual Reception
Friday Evening

Actual class work will commence at Colorado college this morning at 8:15 o'clock. Students not in attendance upon the work for which they are registered will be marked absent, since the instructors are not meeting the classes simply to assign lessons, but for actual recitation.

The annual reception tendered to the new students by the faculty and their wives, old students and alumni, will be held in Bemis hall Friday night. It is at this social affair that the student body really becomes acquainted. The college Y. M. C. A. annual "stag reception" will be held either in Hagerman hall or the "gym" Saturday night.

The several literary societies and "frats" are busy looking for possible pledges and the "frat" houses are being thrown open to the new men.

The enrollment this year will probably exceed that of any other of the

Aeronaut, Benumbed by Cold, Unconscious When Balloon Descends

AUBURN, Me., Sept. 12.—Half-benumbed from a swift flight through rain, hail and cold, and unable to make the outlet valve or ripcord of his balloon work properly, H. Percy Shearman, president of the Williams College Aeronautical society, climbed through the ropes, slashed the silken bag with a knife and fell back unconscious into the basket.

The balloon dropped swiftly to the ground, and tonight Shearman, resting comfortably at a local hospital, was able to tell something of his experiences.

It was on a farm on the outskirts of this city that Shearman today ended the longest balloon flight ever made in New England by an aviator, unaccompanied. The distance from Pittsfield, Mass., where he ascended, early in the morning, to this city is approximately 200 miles.

Soon after leaving Pittsfield, Shearman's balloon, the Springfield, ran into a heavy rain storm, later changing to hail. No sooner had he passed through this than the aeronaut encountered a bitterly cold air current.
Feeling the effects of the exposure, Shearman several times tried to descend, but was unable to deflate the bag. His strength was nearly exhausted when he finally resorted to his knife.

Fowler Falls 40 Feet and Wrecks Craft; Delays Trip

ALTA, Cal., Sept. 12.—Aviator "Bo" Fowler, en route from San Francisco to New York met with the first mishap of his pioneer cross-country aerial voyage here at 10:30 o'clock this morning, when in trying to make a landing, necessitated by a refractory engine and steering gear, his biplane collided with two trees, hurling it to the ground and slightly injuring the dauntless birdman. Both planes of the craft and its two propellers were broken and Fowler will be delayed here for at least two days before he can resume his eastward journey.

Before leaving Auburn this morning Fowler had his first trouble with his engine when a wire of the magneto circuit pulled out. The wire was repaired but it is believed that it was this defect which caused the later trouble.

The biplane left Auburn at 8:37 a. m., and rose to a height of about 400 feet and followed the route of the Southern Pacific tracks through the rolling approaches to the foothill district. For almost 40 miles he sailed along without mishap easily distancing the special trains and automobiles which had started from Auburn at the same time.

Hits Tops of Trees.

As he came into view in this section, however, it was apparent that something was wrong with his craft. About half a mile from here his course suddenly deviated sharply. He did not slacken speed and his machine dashed full into the two trees. There was not space enough between the trees to permit the biplane to pass through unscathed. At a height of about 40 feet from the ground the right plane of the machine struck the right hand tree with

RECIPROCITY FIGHT MEANS CONTESTS ALL DOWN LINE

OTTAWA, Ont., Sept. 12.—Contests in all the 221 Canadian constituencies are prompted by the party managers.

This is taken as an indication of the unusually vigorous character of the reciprocity fight as there are usually half a dozen members returned unopposed, from constituencies where the result is seemingly a foregone conclusion. This time election all along the line is the plan of each side.

Official nominations take place Thursday. After that a candidate's name cannot be put on or taken off the ticket.

SON OF FINANCIER DENIES HE IS ILL

Alan A. Rife, son of T. F. Rife, the financier, who is a guest at the Antlers hotel, denies the rumor current in New York, that he is seriously ill of tuberculosis.

"Do I look like it?" he asked in answer to a question. "I am as well here on a vacation and I haven't the slightest idea of how long I will stay."

PROHIBITION IS AHEAD IN MAINE

LATEST COUNT GIVES A MAJORITY OF 295

Direct Primaries Question Is Carried by a Large Majority

PORTLAND, Me., Sept. 12.—After a day of almost constant surprises it appeared at 1 o'clock this morning, on the face of the returns from town and city clerks, in all but 105 towns and plantations, that prohibition was not defeated in the special election of yesterday as indicated last night. The results as thus far tabulated show a majority for prohibition of 295. The total vote stood: For repeal, 50,216, against repeal, 50,511.

Most of the towns yet to be heard from have been unofficially reported with small majorities favoring retention of the constitution and any change in the vote of these places is likely to help the prohibitionists.

In addition to the 295 majority shown by the clerk's returns there are 50 more "dry" votes known to exist in Portland, which are not included in the city clerk's report, because of an admitted error.

The change from an apparent victory for the wet side by 700, to 295 votes in favor of the dries, came after prohibitionists had conceded defeat, and representatives of those who sought the repeal of the constitutional amendment had sent out numerous statements as to what would be done next.

Carry Other Referendum Questions.

Of the other referendum questions before the people yesterday that proposing to make Augusta forever the capital of the state and that favoring the direct primaries act, were carried by large majorities, according to returns at hand tonight.

Mrs. L. M. Stevens, president of the national W. C. T. U., made the following statement tonight:
"On September 9, England enabled
"Hold the fort, the world watches."
"We have held the fort against the terrible assaults of the united forces of the liquor makers, liquor sellers and their allies and the world will rejoice."
The remarkable campaign just closed has revealed that there is worldwide interest not only in total abstinence, but in prohibition, and the day of the final overthrow of the liquor traffic has been hastened."

Frederick G. Fassett, secretary of the Maine Nonpartisan Local Option league, tonight said:

"We do not concede that the amendment has been reaffirmed. There has been so much contradiction in the returns that we do not know what the result is. We shall wait for the official canvass of the vote and at that time shall decide whether to take steps to secure an inspection of the ballots."

FEAR REPETITION MESSINA DISASTER

CATANIA, Sicily, Sept. 12.—The crest of Mount Etna now presents a terrifying spectacle. Heavy smoke lies over it, with frequent brilliant flashes and the bombardment which is continuous along a line nearly two miles in extent, is like the firing of heavy artillery.

A torrent of burning lava, 2,000 feet wide and four feet deep, is pouring down the slope. Everything in its way has been carried before it. Groves of trees have been uprooted and set on fire and the lava stream is sweeping through the fields, sending out for-mies around hot waves of resinous smoke.

The peasants have left their homes, carrying with them the aged, the sick and the children and whatever meager belongings they were able to get together.

Whole regions covered with hardened lava from past eruptions have been torn open by frequent earth-shocks. Many of these quakes have been of great violence and the peasants fear a repetition of the Messina disaster.

K. L. FAHNESTOCK, WELL KNOWN HERE, PASSES AWAY

Word was received here from Denver yesterday morning that Kenneth L. Fahnestock, a well-known mining man, died at St. Joseph's hospital following an operation for appendicitis.
He had been seriously ill for two months, the attack having come upon him while he was attending the Elks reunion at Atlantic City. Mr. Fahnestock was one of the early residents of Leadville, where he was the owner of several mines. For a good many years he had been the exalted ruler of the Elks lodge at Leadville. He was well and favorably known here and throughout the state, especially among mining men. The B. P. O. E. will have charge of the funeral arrangements.
Mr. Fahnestock is survived by a widow and two daughters who live in Denver.

DESCENDS FAR INTO CRATER, MT. VESUVIUS

NAPLES, Sept. 12.—Professor Capello today returned from a descent into the crater of Mount Vesuvius, the last of a series of trips. He succeeded in descending into the innermost part of the mouth of the crater.

'CHURCHIANITY' SCORED BY LAYMAN

Talk Enlivens Opening Session of Midland Baptists Convention Here

MINISTERS INDOORSE VIEWS
Solution of Social Problems
Paramount Duty of Church.

Says J. E. Franklin

In an address delivered before the Midland Baptist association's conference in this city yesterday afternoon, J. E. Franklin, 110 North Tenth avenue, a layman, criticized the churches of today and their ministers for preaching the gospel of "churchianity" instead of Christianity. He told the preachers that it was not wonder the wage earner and working class charge the preachers of today with trying to serve both God and Mammon at the same time, that preachers preach too exclusively the doctrine of saving people for the next world, when the ministers should be putting forth their greatest efforts to bring about righteous economical conditions in the industrial world.

"When a church tells the oppressed laborer patiently to endure the wrongs he suffers; that they are necessary; that the Christian has nothing to do with the domain of man's industrial life, she has no message of salvation nor can she exert influence among the people," said Mr. Franklin. "Your religion can make no appeal to the wage earner, and it is nothing to excite amazement when the wage-earning class charge you with trying to serve both God and Mammon."

"Overturning all other problems with which the church of today is confronted, is this social problem of reorganizing the business and industrial life upon a Christian basis. Industrial cooperation instead of competition is the solution of the problem, but will the churches undertake such a thing which has been so foreign to the pulpit since the death of Christ?"

At the close of Mr. Franklin's address the ministers who were in attendance were greatly moved by the charges which the speaker had made in behalf of the workman. They saw the light in which they and their churches were held by that class of people and with one accord endorsed Mr. Franklin's statements, many of them declaring that they would henceforth go out among their congregations with the strong determination to overcome and solve the problems which had just been pointed out to them.

"Such a determination," said Mr.
Franklin, "means a revolution, a direct facing about in the attitude of many preachers. I am sure that most of them whom the workmen charge most grievously with preaching "churchianity" have never looked at the matter in this light before. It is the answer from the churches to the workmen's plea for economical reconstruction of industrial life."

IMPORTANT CAPTURE BY CHICAGO POLICE

Arrest Alleged Leader of Gang
That Has Made Millions
Through Swindles.

CHICAGO, Sept. 12.—S. A. Potter, who is said to have garnered more than $1,500,000 from the swindly of two continents during the last few years, by means of gold brick swindles and confidence games, was locked in jail tonight.

He was arrested today by Chief De-Woody, division superintendent of the department of justice, after he had been sought for a year by the police of almost every city in the country.
English detectives are also said to have sought Potter and his companions, who were credited with having extorted numerous dollars from credulous Londoners.

Potter, who also was known as George W. Post, was wanted here on an indictment of swindling. Potter and Edward Starkoff also are wanted in Philadelphia where they forfeited a $25,000 bond in the United States court a year ago. In view of this forfeiture and a report that the confidence men, of whom Potter is said to be the leader, continually kept large amounts of protection money within reach, Chief DeWoody will make every effort to keep his prisoner under lock and key until he is brought to trial.

Refuse $50,000 Cash Bond.

Potter offered a cash bond of $50,000 for his release but it was refused by federal officials, who declared that nothing less than a cash bond of $150,- 000 would be accepted. Potter was arrested at his home on the south side where he is said to have lived for several months.

After making the arrest Superintendent DeWoody remained in the luxuriously furnished apartment occupied by Potter and his wife for several days

TEACHER SAVES GIRL'S LIFE

GRAND JUNCTION, Sept. 12.—Principal Richard Topp of the Grand Junction High School, probably saved the life of Thelma Severson, a senior, today when he smothered her burning clothing, which had caught fire from an alcohol lamp.

Miss Severson was working in the chemical laboratory and accidentally tumbled over a bottle of alcohol. The liquid spilled over her clothing and became ignited from the flame of the lamp. The flames had completely enveloped the girl when Principal Topp arrived on the scene. The young woman's arms were burned painfully.

Miss Severson is a daughter of a prominent Plateau Valley farmer.

BANK ROBBERS TO PRISON

SIOUX FALLS, S. D., Sept. 12.—George Rife, Edward Mack and Frank Collins were sentenced to seven years in prison today for robbing the Farmers State Bank of Tea. The three men are supposed to have been members of the Bailey gang of robbers, but as they entered pleas of guilty there was no opportunity to present evidence to the effect. They were arrested at the point of a revolver by Chief of Police Johnson, shortly after the looting of the Tea bank in May.

REYISTAS TRY TO DELAY ELECTION

MEXICO CITY, Sept. 12.—Expressing belief that thuggery and kindred methods will be used by the followers of Francisco I. Madero if the national elections take place on October 1, the Reyes delegates in convention today, decided to petition congress to postpone the elections for president.

As a protest against an election, which they charge would be unfair, the delegates agreed not to nominate a vice president. As the convention was called in the name of Bernardo Reyes, it was deemed unnecessary to place him in formal nomination. Tomorrow the last session of the convention will be held and a committee instructed to draft the petition to congress, will report.

That it is possible congress will accede to the petition is hoped by Madero, who in anticipation of the action of the Reyesistas today sent communications to congress, bitterly opposing such action.

The resolution of Reyesistas has the support of a group of anti-revolutionists, the revolutionists and a few other minor groups. It is said the aggregate number of signers to the petition will exceed 20,000.

It is to be expected that the Maderistas confident of their present strength will vigorously fight postponement of the election. However, a large part of congress is composed of men representing the old regime and if they voted in accordance with their personal desires, they will doubtless favor the petition.

In his note to congress, Madero hinted that such action might be followed by serious circumstances, for which he declared he would not be responsible.

START USUAL "REVOLUTION"

MEXICO CITY, Sept. 12.—Under the leadership of Colonel Escobosa, a former revolutionary leader, 400 men have renounced their allegiance to the government and gone on the war path in Sonora, according to a dispatch to El Imparcial tonight. Escobosa and his men are reported to be marching on Ures, the old capital of the state.

MEXICO CITY, Sept. 12.—Manuel Enriquez, who formally announced a few weeks ago a document which he styled "Plan of Texcoco," his intention to head a counter revolution, was arrested today and lodged in the penitentiary.

CINCINNATI BUILDINGS BURN; LOSS $200,000

CINCINNATI, Sept. 12.—Fire early today destroyed the Cincinnati Veneer company at Front street and Sixth avenue and several lumber yards adjoining, and threatened a number of tenement houses. The loss is $200,000. It is reported a night watchman is missing.

MONTROSE COUNTY FAIR TO HONOR FEDERAL WORK

MONTROSE, Colo., Sept. 12.—The Montrose county fair next week will be a magnificent celebration in honor of the United States reclamation service, which has taken the Uncompagme district under its special care and by the construction of the Gunnison tunnel has opened to cultivation 150,000 acres of one of the most fertile valleys in the world. The agricultural and horticultural exhibits will be as a banquet table spread with the products of a land developed by the work of the government.

FORMER DES MOINES MAYOR IS SENT TO PENITENTIARY

DEADWOOD, S. D., Sept. 12.—Three years and three days in the federal prison at Leavenworth was the sentence imposed upon James M. Brenton, former mayor of Des Moines, by Federal Judge Elliott this afternoon.

Brenton yesterday pleaded guilty to selling liquor to Indians.

AIRMAN FALLS TO DEATH

PARIS, Sept. 12.—Lieutenant Chotard, a pupil in the military aviation school, was killed today while making a flight at Villacoublay. A gust of wind capsize his machine and he fell 300 feet.

SERIOUS FIRE IN ANTWERP

ANTWERP, Sept. 12.—A great fire broke out here tonight and five vast woodyards were blazing fiercely at midnight. A big railroad depot and several houses also were burned. The damage is estimated in the millions of dollars.

GOVERNORS IN CLASH

the analysis a little further than it has been carried.

"A very important thing, a fundamentally important thing, is the source of the law. Some of the laws that we have are bad laws, and they are bad for the reason that there is a suspicion as to their source. The people of the United States want their governors to be leaders in matters of legislation, because they have serious suspicion as to the source of the legislation; and they have a serious distrust of their legislators.

"What I would urge as against the views of Governor O'Neal is that there is nothing inconsistent between the strengthening of the powers of the active and direct power of the people."

Votes of People Not a "Caprice."

He then spoke of the caprice of the majority. "I have known instances of the caprice of the mob," he said, "but I have never known of an instance where the vote of the population was spoken of as a caprice."

"I don't believe there is any distrust of the fundamental principles of democracy. I believe we are all democrats if we use a small 'd'."

As Governor Wilson sat down, Governor O'Neal sprang to his feet and reiterated his belief.

"I would rather stand with Madison and Hamilton," he concluded, after outlining what he believed the menace of the measure, "than to stand with some modern prophets and some of our western statesmen."

The discussion following Governor O'Neal's address consumed the afternoon session.

Governor C. Ruse of Oklahoma occupied the chair, and the who spoke included Governors Gilchrist, McGovern, Aldrich, Kitchin, Burke, Hadley, Shafroth and Hawley.

On motion of Governor Shafroth of Colorado, the delegates voted to meet half an hour earlier on Thursday, to allow Dr. Anna Shaw to address the meeting on woman suffrage.

Governor of Montana Speaks.

Two methods in which the powers of state executives throughout the Union ought to be strengthened, in the opinion of Governor Edwin L. Norris of Montana, were discussed by him before the conference of governors, here today.

The first vital step to be taken, Governor Norris believes, is to bestow upon governors the power to remove inefficient state officers charged with the enforcement of the criminal and remedial laws. The second is to grant the governors the right to initiate and refer legislation to the voters for their approval or rejection.

Governor Norris addressed himself to "Strengthening the Power of the Executive." In part, he said:

No useful purpose can be served in having unlimited authority to call out the militia when it is desired to prevent crime, fight fires, suppress rebellions, close wineries or enforce the criminal statutes in general. To attempt to suppress the criminal statutes by calling out the state troops would be about as sensible or practicable as would be the use of coast defense artillery in destroying sparrows.

Must Have Cooperation.

The constitution declares the governor to be the chief executive officer, and commands him to see that the laws are faithfully executed; but he can accomplish little without the cooperation and assistance of the peace and prosecuting officers of his state. In addition to this, the governor must have the cooperation of the judges, who are the interpreters of the laws, and the officers of the courts, who are the enforcers of the laws.

ENDS STOMACH TROUBLE AND INDIGESTION

Your Out-of-Order Stomach Feels Fine Five Minutes After Taking A Little Diapepsin

Take your sour, out-of-order stomach—or maybe you call it indigestion, dyspepsia, gastritis or catarrh of the stomach; it doesn't matter, take your stomach trouble right with you to your pharmacist and ask him to open a 50-cent case of Paper's Diapepsin and let you see if within five minutes there is left any trace of your former misery.

This correct name for your trouble is "Acid Fermentation—food, souring, the digestive organs become weak, there is lack of gastric juice, your food is only half digested, and you become affected with loss of appetite, pressure and fullness, after eating, coming, nausea, heartburn, griping in the bowels, tenderness in the pit of the stomach, bad taste in mouth, constipation, pain in limbs, sleeplessness, belching of gas, biliousness, sick headache, nervousness, dizziness, or many other similar symptoms.

If your appetite is flake and nothing tempt you, or you belch gas, or if you feel bloated after eating, or your food lies like a lump of lead on your stomach, you can make up your mind that at the bottom of all this there is but one cause—fermentation of undigested food.

Prove to yourself in five minutes that your stomach is as good as any; that there is nothing really wrong. Stop this fermentation and begin eating what you want without fear of discomfort or misery.

Almost instant relief is waiting for you. It is merely a matter of how soon you take a little Diapepsin.

Societies and Clubs

Section Five of the Christian church will meet tomorrow afternoon with Mrs. Merwin, 701 Colorado avenue, instead of today as was formerly announced.

MISS OLIPHANT WILL HANDLE CANDY STORE

At a meeting between the stockholders of the Muehl Confectionery company and Edward Murphy, creditor, of Denver, Miss Genevieve Oliphant was appointed to carry on the business of the company. It is thought that the indebtedness to Mr. Murphy, which amounts to about $2,500, will be taken care of within a short time, as well as will the interests of all other creditors. The company will continue business as usual. Miss Oliphant is bookkeeper for the company.

DELEGATES NAMED TODAY

Mayor Avery, the county commissioners and the Chamber of Commerce will give out a list today of the delegates who will represent Colorado Springs and El Paso counties at the public lands convention in Denver. In the list will be included five delegates who will wait upon President Taft during his visit here, and confer with him relative to the obtaining of a 21,000-acre tract of land in the mountains for Colorado Springs, Manitou and Cascade, as an additional water reserve.

Kansas Refuses Charter to Company to Finance Series Revival Meetings

TOPEKA, Kan., Sept. 12.—An effort of church members of Wichita, Kan., to secure a free charter for a corporation to finance a series of meetings to be held in that city by "Billy" Sunday, the evangelist, failed today when the state charter board refused to issue the charter.

The plan was to organize a corporation, capitalized at $10,000 to pay Sunday's salary and other expenses, and if there were any profits the shareholders were to get it.

The charter was asked for under a law that gives religious and charitable institutions charter free. The board held that the act of carrying on revivals for profit did not come under the provisions of the law.

BABY PITIFUL SIGHT WITH ECZEMA

Completely Covered, Bandaged from Head to Foot, Dared Not Wash Him, Used Cuticura Soap and Ointment 4 Weeks and He Was Cured.

"A few days after birth we noticed an itchy spot on our baby's hip which soon began spreading until baby was completely covered even in his eyes, ears and scalp. For eight weeks he was bandaged from head to foot. He could not have a stitch of clothing on. Our regular physician pronounced it chronic eczema. He is a very white physician and ranks with the best in this locality. Nevertheless, the disease began spreading until baby was completely covered. He was lying helplessly so rapidly that we became alarmed and decided to try Cuticura Soap and Ointment.

"Not until I commenced using Cuticura Soap and Ointment could we tell what he looked like, as we dared not wash him, and I had been putting one application after another on him. On removing the bandages his head the hair came out, and left him entirely bald, but since we have been using Cuticura Soap and Ointment he has as much hair as ever. Four weeks after we began to use the Cuticura Soap and Ointment he was entirely cured. I don't believe anyone could have eczema worse than our baby.

"Before we used the Cuticura Remedies we could hardly look at him, he was such a pitiful sight. He could not smile until I could see his face. He seemed to relieve him so much. Cuticura Soap and Ointment saved him himself and the result they quickly and surely bring to their own recommendation." (Signed) Mrs. T. R. Rogers, 301 Hall, Pa., Feb. 20, '11.

Use the Cuticura Soap and Ointment throughout the world. Send to Potter Drug & Chem. Corp., Dept. A, Boston, for a liberal supply of each—free with 21¢ box of the Cuticura.

Palmer Park Fire RAZES TEN ACRES

Lack of Wind All That Saves Remainder—Careless Picnickers Blamed

About ten acres of forest and shrubbery in Palmer park, three miles northeast of Colorado Springs, were devastated by fire last night. The fact that there was little, if any wind, was all that saved the entire tract of 700 acres of grass, shrubbery and forest, from destruction.

The fire started about 1 o'clock, and is believed to have been started by careless picnickers. A force of about 50 men, headed by D. V. Donaldson, park commissioner, was engaged until about 11 o'clock in fighting the flames and protecting the trees in the devastated section.

The fire started just north of the south entrance, where a farmer living nearby had previously seen an automobile party, enjoying themselves at a picnic supper. When he first noticed the fire, the picnickers were just leaving the park. They gave evidence of being excited, and it is presumed that a match was carelessly thrown in the dry grass by one of the men. After an effort made to extinguish the flame, it is thought, they decided to put as many miles as possible between them and the spot before the fire was noticed.

The farmer turned in an immediate alarm. Commissioner Donaldson was notified. Four men were taken by him in an automobile to the park. Further assistance was given from the North-drach ranch. St. Stephens school, Papetown and the Mrs. Helen Waterman place. A. J. Lawton, street commissioner, and eight members of the street department, were on their way to the park when notified that the danger point had passed.

"It would be hard to estimate the damage," Mr. Donaldson said last night. "I know that it has taken a quarter of a century to produce that which was destroyed. An effort will be made to find the persons responsible, providing there were any. The grass is unusually dry, and we can be thankful that there was no more wind than there was."

DRY FARMING CONGRESS FINANCES

IT is scarcely necessary to remind the people of Colorado Springs that the beginning of the Dry Farming Congress is only a month off. It is to be by far the largest and most important convention ever assembled here. Already it has brought benefits to Colorado Springs of incalculable value, principally because of the advertising expenditures.

Such advantages as Colorado Springs has derived, and will continue to derive from the Dry Farming Congress, are not to be had without cost. But until now the business men of this city and the public generally have not been asked for a single dollar. Both the city and county governments have contributed, but the people have given nothing.

But it is necessary now to complete the fund. The Finance Committee, of which W. S. Dunning is chairman, has started an energetic campaign to raise $7,500. It cannot, it must not fail. Last year delegates were sent to the Spokane congress to secure this year's meeting for Colorado Springs. They were authorized by the City Council and the Chamber of Commerce to make certain pledges, which must now be redeemed. And there is only one way to redeem them—complete this fund without delay.

CAMPAIGN PUBLICITY

IT appears that somebody put a joker in the new campaign publicity law, which went into effect August 19. Presumably the law is a sincere attempt to secure full publicity of campaign expenditures and thus tend to make politics cleaner. But the real friends of the measure were not as alert as they should have been, else it would not now be found lacking in an important particular.

A few days ago the primary election statements of Senators Martin and Swanson of Virginia were filed in the office of the Secretary of the Senate, in accordance with the new law. It was found then that the law contains no provision for making public a statement of individual expenses incurred in campaigns. These statements must be filed but apparently it is optional with the Secretary of the Senate or the Clerk of the House, as the case may be, to decide whether they shall be published. In some respects the law is adequate. It provides a fine not exceeding $1,000 or imprisonment for not more than one year, or both, for failure to file an expense statement within the prescribed time. But the lack of proper provision for full publicity makes the law woefully inadequate.

This is not the first time that efforts to purify politics by securing the full publicity of campaign contributions have ended in failure. The New York legislature passed a bill two years ago with the same object in view but the results have been far from satisfactory, and it is not easy to see how real benefits in any degree are to be obtained through such a law.

The New York law forbade campaign contributions by corporations. But it did not provide, and nobody has devised, a way to prevent corporations making campaign contributions in the names of individuals. The New York law also required full publicity, but this provision is futile as long as corporation officials can thus evade the provision against corporate gifts.

FAILURE OF ATTEMPTED REFORMS.

This is a puzzling question and one not likely to be satisfactorily settled by law. Political campaigns must be financed somehow, and inevitably they will be financed by those who have a direct interest in their outcome. A candidate, for instance, pays an assessment to the campaign treasurer because he expects to reap a benefit from the election, and the same thing is true of the great corporation which contributes sums running high into the thousands. The candidate looks for his reward in the form of office, and sometimes in other forms even more satisfactory in a pecuniary sense. A corporation is looking for legislative favors, possibly a favorable tariff schedule or a favorable piece of railway legislation.

The ideal way would be for the voters themselves to finance their political campaigns, for each individual to contribute according to his means. But the voters will not do it. The vast majority of them consider that their duty is fully discharged when they have taken the trouble to visit the polling place on election day, and they would regard a campaign contribution of even one dollar each as an unwarranted imposition. And since the people who ought to pay will not pay, it follows naturally that the money will be raised from those whose personal interests are of enough importance to warrant their paying.

It is our impression that the cause of political reform will not be materially advanced by efforts of this kind. The most drastic campaign publicity law that could be devised could easily be circumvented. Such chimerical schemes as Governor Shafroth's plan of taxing the whole people to provide political campaign funds are obviously futile. Even the publication of itemized lists of expenditures is unsatisfactory because they are so easily falsified. On the whole it is a subject which the legislators may well leave alone.

OPEN PARLIAMENT

THE JEWISH SYNAGOGUE.

To the Editor of The Gazette:
After years of patient and assiduous labor, the vision of the conservative Jews of this city has at last been realized. During the 40 years of the establishment of the city of Colorado Springs the Jews have been without a house of worship. Services were conducted in various places. The situation was a pitiable one, resembling the period of the exodus when for 40 years the children of Israel were wandering in the deserts. Praised be Jehovah, for at last we have reached the Land of Canaan. For the first time, will the services of the coming holy-days, Rosh Hashona, and the Day of Atonement, be conducted in a house dedicated to him, the only God of this great universe, the omnipotent, omniscient God of Israel.

The congregation, The Sons of Israel, have now practically completed the transformation of the church located at 417 South Cascade avenue into a magnificent synagogue. Extensive interior alterations have been made, while the Ark of the Covenant is one of the most elaborate of its kind ever witnessed by the writer. In its entirety the synagogue should appeal to the pride of every Jew in the town, whether he be Reformer, Conservative or Orthodox.

As great deeds are fostered by good men too much credit cannot be given those, through whose initiative and painstaking efforts the synagogue was established. The personal exertions and financial aid of Messrs. Simon Kranz and M. K. Myers will be remembered by the members of the congregation.

Likewise will the support of all the good-hearted people, including those from out of town, and the many good Christians who have availed themselves of this opportunity of paying a tribute to the great God of Israel—the God of all mankind.

THE CRYSTAL PARK AUTO ROAD.

To the Editor of The Gazette

The pioneers certainly have a right to justice, in history. As the newspaper of today is the historic thought-archival, I ask a place for this note.

Through the kindness of Engineer Edwin A. Sawyer, on the 10th inst. I visited Crystal park by the auto way, and found the auto company using about two miles of the old grade-bed of the Colorado Springs and Pikes Peak Railway company. There could be no objection to this. As we in the '80s were carried down by the whirlwind failure of Grant & Ward, bankers, in New York city, we were compelled to abandon the enterprise.

It, however, was a great surprise to me, when I found that the auto company was giving credit, for its saving in grading expenses to Grant & Ward and that the directors of other places of interest in and about Manitou were also sympathizing with Grant & Ward. Now, all that Grant & Ward had to do with our enterprise was to bankrupt two leading capitalists, whom I had interested in the Colorado Springs and Pikes Peak railway. Even these capitalists had not spent a cent for our company.

After I lost, directly and indirectly, nearly thirty thousand dollars—spending in actual cash more than all other parties together and given out a year of then very valuable time. I submit that it is not a fair deal to let the credit to the wreckers.

Later, talking with a western railway president about our failure, he remarked: "There is only one thing about your enterprise that I would criticize, and plainly speaking, it is this. You were a fool, professor, for spending your own money. It wasn't business. A sensible railroad man wouldn't think of it." My reply was: "I never ask a man to put money in any enterprise in which I have not faith enough to put my own." His reply was: "Good Lord! You are a d d old fogey." To which I replied: "Well, if you call that old fogeyism, I suppose I have got it. It came down with the old Scotch Covenantant blood."

Now, I am not crying over spilled milk and I am not cursing Grant & Ward, but I again submit that the pioneer workers, in developing Crystal park, Jones park, Lake Moraine, Seven Lakes and Pikes Peak, deserve a better fate in history.

It has been my privilege to visit, as an engineer and lover of the beautiful and grand, some of the finest scenery in Europe, Asia and all the Americas, and, while I have seen scenery more beautiful and grander than is to be found around Pikes Peak, the exceptions are by no means numerous.

After familiarizing myself in 1874-5-6-7 with the places of beauty and grandeur in the Pikes Peak region, I was irresistibly driven to place the highest value on the scenic way which leads through Crystal park, along the face of Camerons Cone and Mount Garfield, through Jones park, by Seven Lakes and ending on Pikes Peak.

I rejoice that part of this has been made accessible by the Crystal Park Auto Way company for sightseeing purposes. In developing this instructive, pleasure way, for home lovers and inapplicable tourists, Mr. Sawyer, the engineer, has shown himself to be no ordinary engineering artist; and we have as a consequence in this auto way the hand of nature and the hand of man, working together for the ennobling of the eye and the enriching of the heart.

A MICROSCOPE FOR TWO

From the Journal of the American Medical Association

A new device which will appeal to all users of microscopes is the arrangement of two separate oculars with one common objective, allowing two persons side by side to look at the same field, so that an instructor may describe to a pupil what should be observed by the latter while both are looking at it, so also that an artist can make a drawing under the direction of the microscopist, etc. Appreciation of its value will doubtless be expressed by all users and the question will be asked why it was not invented before. Thus far we have heard only of the instrument's being exhibited in France, but in due time it will probably be introduced into this country.

PASTEUR

From the Journal of the American Medical Association

"A Study in Greatness" is the subtitle of a Brief sketch of the career of Pasteur, by Prof. F. W. Martin. In the spirit of Carlyle, Martin shows the origin of the racial concept of greatness, and having discovered a fundamental similarity in the works ranked as greatest, he offers as a hypothesis this interpretation: That greatness is the heroic. He gives an exceedingly interesting outline of Pasteur's life, pointing to the tenacious purpose of the great Frenchman's genius, showing how the results obtained by minute microscopic investigations were conceived by this master-mind of macrocosmic laws.

Of the discovery of racemic acid, Martin says that, measured by its ultimate results, it was doubtless the most far-reaching discovery ever made, being in one direction the germ of a new science, stereochemistry. In another, transforming medicine and agriculture from empirically practiced arts into true sciences. This discovery, made at the age of 35, was the first great manifestation of Pasteur's "marvelous capacity for seeing the unseeable." Holding to the "sure road of experimentation," he broke roads into a new world, and created on his way new sciences which should serve in its exploration. Making discovery after discovery unparalleled in universal importance, his genius compares with other milestones in our civilization—Newton, Copernicus, Galileo—as a solar system compares with an isolated star.

In 1868, in the midst of many and great investigations, Pasteur was struck by a series of paralytic shocks but says Martin, although crippled in body, the work accomplished by Pasteur during his remaining 27 years was not only stupendous in amount, but of transcendent importance to mankind. The example afforded by the heroic labors of the paralyzed Pasteur cannot be matched from the annals of all time. Our conceptions of greatness need constant revision, the term being so often applied to comparatively insignificant incidents in every-day life that it loses its meaning. The article cited is an aid in such revision.

Sunflower Philosophy

One poet took his pen in hand and wrote a bug-house rhyme no human soul could understand, and people cried: "Sublime!" He was adored by high-born elites, before his shining bent, they ordered their culture clubs, to read out what he meant. His volume like a beacon burned on every highbrow's shelf, but what he meant was never learned—he never knew himself. They worshiped him, the highbrow trust, until he jumped the game, and then they put his plaster bust high in the Hall of Fame. Another poet wrote his rhymes and made his meaning clear, he slammed the foibles of his times and played for smile and tear. And low-brow people read his hope each day, from sea to sea, and never hunted for a rope to hang him to a tree. The cowboys read him in their camps, the miners in the hills, the workers by their evening lamps, the weavers in their mills. So, happy was that cheap John bard—as happy as a pup; it didn't jolt him very hard when highbrows passed him up.

THE DAILY CHIT-CHAT
-BY-
RUTH CAMERON CHAT

These are the things I prize

And hold of deepest worth,
Light of the sapphire skies,
Peace of the silent hills,
Shelter of forest, comfort of the grass,
Music of the birds, murmur of little rills,
Shadow of clouds that swiftly pass,
And after the shower,
The smell of flowers
And of the good brown earth
And best of all, along the way, friendship and
—Van Dyke

Do you daily open your heart as fully as possible to the influence of the serenity and the loveliness of nature?

Few people really do, I think.
Of course almost everyone nowadays admires nature. To do so is stylish. But I mean more than admire.
It is one thing to say detachedly, "That is a beautiful sunset" or "How lovely that river and those meadows look!"
It is quite another to be able to feel an actual glow of pleasure at the loveliness of the sunset sky, to be actually poached into serenity and peace by the tranquil aspect of the river dreaming along through the autumn meadows.

I have lost many things that made me happier in my life. A woman said to me the other day, "I do not have so much that is interesting and exciting nowadays; but I find that I have gained one great thing as I have grown older and my life has become less active and crowded, and that is the power of finding actual happenings in the beauty of nature. There was a time when it took some event, some excitement or some expectation to give me pleasure. I admired nature, but I didn't enjoy it. Today, when I look out on the long golden shadows of late afternoon on my neighbor's lawn, or see an especially magnificent cloud effect down by the river, or pass some lovely garden, I not only admire it, but I feel actually happy over it."

Surely such a state of mind is worth a thousand a year.

In a recent magazine article a mother of several children rejoiced because she thinks her children are going to find their happiness in "large interests and small pleasures," as she knows that if they get that point of view on life they will always find it easy to be happy.

Among the small pleasures she counts love of nature. Although one might quarrel with the adjective "small," one must surely applaud her philosophy.

He who can be happy with "large interests and small pleasures" will always be happy, since these are free to any man.

Cultivate a real joy in nature, a real pleasure in its beautiful aspects instead of a detached admiration, for this can be cultivated.

Train yourself to open your mind wide to nature's influences of tranquillity and strength—for the mind can thus be trained—and you will have a source of happiness and peace that no circumstances, no possible turn of the wheel of fortune, can ever take away from you.

GREAT MAP FACTORY

United States Geological Survey
Turns Out Enormous Number of Maps

The greatest official map-making establishment in the country at present is the United States Geological Survey. In constructing the huge topographic and geologic maps of the United States every detail of the work is done by the survey, from the work of the topographers who make the maps in the field down through the various stages of drafting, lettering, editing, engraving, and lithographic printing in many colored inks. There is practically no compilation about the geological survey maps; they are based on surveys made on the ground, and the office work consists simply in putting them into form for issuance to the public. They depict most faithfully the characteristics of the areas surveyed.

Every year with the coming of the open field season numerous survey parties hurry away from the Washington office to the four quarters of the United States, as well as to Alaska, and the result of their season's work is the topographic and geologic mapping of tens of thousands of square miles of all sorts of country ranging from the most forbidding swamps and morasses to the loftiest of the glacier-covered mountains of the Rockies and the high Sierra, and including the most valuable mineral deposits of the nation. While these parties are thus traversing untrodden fields, the survey, engraving and printing plant throughout the summer, as in fact hundreds of thousands of copies of the results of the previous year's field work. In a single midsummer month this year the survey plant printed 102,404 topographic maps, 5,345 geologic folios, each containing many maps, and 11,170 copies of other geologic maps, charts, etc. Besides its own maps a great number of maps are also printed by the survey engraving division for other branches and departments of the government. Stephen J. Kubel, chief engraver, has run this extensive engraving and printing plant under the director of the geological survey for the past 22 years. Years ago he instituted an almost exact cost-keeping system which has enabled him to enter into close competitive bidding on some of the government contract work and to run the engraving plant on thoroughly up-to-date business lines.

Most of the maps are printed in color and the total number of 218,919 maps and charts printed during the month mentioned the number of separate printings or impressions was 1,237,609. The geologic map of North America, which is now being printed in four sheets, shows 42 different color and pattern distinctions. Each sheet requires 20 separate printings, and the 13,700 copies of the southwest sheet of this map printed during the month necessitated 374,000 printings. The total edition of 13,700 copies of the complete map has required 1,095,000 printings.

A LARGE PARTY.

From Chicago Evening Post.
Hollis Cooley, who weighs 350 pounds, found himself stuck in a small town for the night unless he could bring about the halting of a limited train. So he wired thus: "Conductor No. 7—Stop at Red Bridge for a large party." And it worked, too.

An Irish physician, while enjoying a holiday in this country, says the Belfast Times, took the opportunity along with a friend to go fishing. During operations the physician's sinker came off and was lost. Here was a dilemma—no sinker, no more fishing that day. Happy thought, he had a bottle in his pocket. The bottle was filled with water, carefully corked and sent down on its mission. After a few minutes' interval the doctor had a bite and pulled on his line at racing speed, finding a fine pair of fish, one on each hook. "Ha, doctor, twins this time," exclaimed his companion. "Yes," quoth the physician, "and brought up on the bottle, too."

IN THE EARLY DAYS

THIRTY YEARS AGO TODAY

September 13, 1881.
A convention held in Canon City resolved that the state capital should be located at some point in the Arkansas valley.

The 1881 wheat crop of Colorado was estimated at 1,250,000 bushels.

Eight locomotives were at the D & R. G. station at one time, which was considered worthy of note by The Gazette.

The state fair was opened in Denver. Aside from the minerals, the exhibits were said to be very poor. The horse races were referred to as a failure.

Several large loads of watermelons reached the city from Rocky Ford.

Two bicyclists made the trip up from Pueblo in a little over six hours. This was considered very good time for the old high bicycles.

The Rev. D. A. Mozes, of Edinburgh Scotland, preached in the Presbyterian church both morning and evening.

Special Prizes for El Paso County Dry Farmers in Exhibit

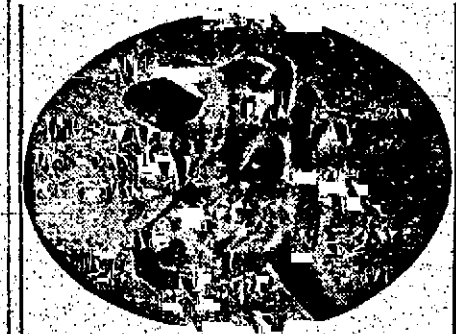

In order to induce the farmers of El Paso county to attend the Dry Farming congress, and to enter their products for exhibition, the subcommittee in charge of the El Paso county exhibit decided at a meeting last night to solicit money and premiums from the merchants of Colorado Springs which will be given as prizes during the congress to the El Paso farmers who participate in the exhibition. Owing to the fact that El Paso county is to be the host during the congress no awards will be given by the congress itself to the El Paso county farmers, and it is to encourage them to make a showing that the subcommittee will begin its work of raising sufficient funds and premiums to take care of that branch of the exhibition. F. E. Horn, secretary of the committee, stated last night that solicitation would begin this morning and all merchants would be urged to donate something to the prize fund even if it be only an article from their store. A committee consisting of Miles Cook, chairman, A. J. Newsome, R. S. Johnson, W. W. Williamson and F. E. Horn was appointed to visit the business men of the town, starting today. The committee is particularly desirous of obtaining an attractive prize fund because it believes the merchants of Colorado Springs will be greatly benefited by having the El Paso farmer attend in force. A circular letter which will be sent to all the farmers of the county urging their attendance at the congress, was dropped at the meeting last night. The subcommittee will use every means possible to secure a good representation of El Paso county farmers at the Dry Farming exhibition.

Mr. Duckworth said that in the event the sanatorium was built here, it would be a home of which this city would be proud, that the Odd Fellows were planning to erect a very handsome sanatorium. Mr. Duckworth is now living in San Bernardino, Cal., and is a past grand master of the I. O. O. F. ## A Chance to Help Orphan Boys Gain Home and Training

Do you know of a fatherless or orphan boy, between the age of 6 and 10 years, whom you would like to see obtain a good education? If so, notify the county commissioners. They are looking for just such a sort of a chap. In a letter received yesterday from the George W. Clayton College for Orphan Boys, Denver, notice was given that the school would be opened sometime in October. It is patterned after the Girard college of Philadelphia. The requirements for a boy to become a beneficiary of the endowment made by Mr. Clayton are that he must have lost his father or both of his parents, and must be between 6 and 10 years old and of white blood and reputable parentage. If the boy can qualify, he will be clothed, lodged and given medical treatment, in addition to an education in the ordinary business affairs of life, such as farming, mechanics, building trades, electrical engineering and other trades. He may remain in school until he is 18 years old and capable of making his own way. "Knowing that so many cases come to your attention," the directors write to the county commissioners, "we invite you to aid them in becoming beneficiaries to this school."

Wanted to Be Jailed; Sanity Is Questioned

H. Weisenberger is held at the city jail and will be turned over to the county today for an investigation in regard to his sanity. Dr. E. L. McKim, county physician, has ordered the investigation. Yesterday morning, Weisenberger approached the railing at the police station and began mumbling to Sergeant J. W. Henderson. At first, Sergeant Henderson could not understand what the man was saying. "You'll have to speak a little bit louder," the sergeant requested. "I say," the man shouted, "I want to know if you want to lock me up. If you don't, I'm going to join the Hebrews." It was not until some minutes later that Sergeant Henderson realized that there was evidently something wrong with the man. He decided to keep him from the Hebrews, and so lodged him in jail.

Grocers Will Try to Secure Agreement With Commission Houses

The 23 members of the El Paso Retail Grocers and Butchers association object to the practice charged to the commission and wholesale men of selling flour, fruit and produce direct to the consumer. They talked it over at a meeting in the A. O. H. hall last night, and today a committee will be appointed by O. W. Ward, president, to wait upon the commission and wholesale men of the county and tell their side of the story. Mr. Ward will be chairman of the committee. "It is not treating the retail men right," President Ward said last night. "They deal with us and then turn right around and sell direct to the consumer at a price which would not give us a chance to compete." By the time the committee is through with its work, Mr. Ward hopes to have a written agreement with the wholesale and commission men that they will not sell to any private individual any marketable goods, such as flour, apples, potatoes, peaches or bananas. "Our attitude is not a threatening one," Mr. Ward concluded. "We merely wish to present our views, and we believe that the commission and wholesale men will come to our way of thinking. It is not our intention to dictate to any man what price he shall sell his goods at, but we believe that by working together we can get a lower rate from the wholesalers, and in this manner we can sell cheaper to the individuals." Members of the association object to a quotation which places best sugar at $7.10. They say that they are compelled to pay $7.40 and $7.60 to the wholesale houses for their sugar.

CITY'S PROGRESS MAKES IMPRESSION ON BANKER

Major A. C. Landon of St. Louis, president of the American Bankers and Assurance company, and well known in national banking circles, was a visitor in Colorado Springs yesterday. He was the guest of Mayor Henry Avery yesterday morning, and was taken for an automobile ride over the Pikes Peak region, and shown the different points of interest. This is the first visit Major Landon has made to Colorado Springs in 10 years, and he expressed himself as being greatly impressed over the growth and development of the city and surrounding country. He is on his way to Idaho, on a business trip.

Death and Funeral

Funeral services of Mrs. Helen M. Grover, aged 52, who died at her home, 424 East Platte avenue, Monday afternoon, will be held from the undertaking rooms of Fairleys & Law tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Interment will be in Evergreen cemetery. Mrs. Grover is survived by her father and a brother in England, another brother in Chicago, her mother, Mrs. M. C. Gauran, and a sister, Mrs. C. M. Prior, both of this city.

Wilfred Walton Thomas, the infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy W. Thomas of Enid, Okla., died as the result of an operation at a local hospital at 3 o'clock last night. The funeral services will be held from the undertaking rooms of Hallitt and Baker this morning at 10 o'clock, the Rev. Samuel Garrison officiating. Interment will be in Pond Creek, Okla.

PIONEER ASSOCIATION REELECTS MRS. PRICE

Other Officers Chosen at Annual Picnic—Log Clubhouse Is Planned

Mrs. Maude McFerran Price was re-elected president of the El Paso County Pioneer association, at the annual picnic of the association in Stratton park, yesterday. The other officers are: Dr. Roswell P. Anderson, vice president; Mrs. E. J. Eaton, second vice president; A. W. Perkins, third vice president, and Miss Helen Foster, secretary and treasurer. Mrs. Price was also elected permanent custodian of the El Paso County Pioneers exhibit in the corridors of the court house. A committee consisting of W. A. Perkins, M. A. Foster and Mrs. A. J. Lawton was appointed to report on the proposed limitation of membership. The program consisted of the reading of the president's and secretary's annual reports, a reading of a paper on the old stone fort near Monument, by Mrs. Charles Adams, widow of the famous Indian fighter, and several solos by Mrs. Jenny Corea Bunn. The loving cup won by the association in the parade during carnival week was on exhibition, and, at the close, all the members drank from it. In her annual address to the association, Mrs. Price told of the great work accomplished in the past, namely, the founding of the first and only museum in the city, the entertainment of the pioneers during the carnival and the winning of the loving cup. Then, that which is being done at present, the marking of the old Ute Pass trail; and finally, the work planned for the future, the erection of a log cabin clubhouse in which to hold the meetings of the associations.

FIRE LOOKOUT STATION ON CHEYENNE MOUNTAIN

A fire lookout station will be maintained on Cheyenne mountain by the government forestry department this fall, according to information received here yesterday from Denver. It will overlook the eastern slope of the Front range. The "lookout" will be one of three to be placed in the Rocky mountains this fall by the government. The number of men to be employed, while not officially announced, will be sufficient to forestall possibilities of forest fires that have ravaged the eastern slope of the mountains in years past. Students of the school of forestry, at Colorado college, it is said, will be used as an auxiliary force.

MANY HUNTERS TAKING OUT LICENSES EARLY

Anxious to get on the grounds establishing their camps and have everything in readiness for the short season when the game law is off on deer, nearly a score of persons applied at the office of the county clerk yesterday for hunting licenses. The deer season opens October 1 and closes October 6. Most of the applicants for licenses yesterday were residents of Colorado. Hunting outfits are being prepared and a number of hunters will leave within a few days for the mountains.

Mrs. Tripp Presented With Loving Cup by Local Musical Club

Last evening, Mrs. George B. Tripp, the outgoing president of the Colorado Springs Musical club, who is about to remove to Harrisburg, Pa., was given a double surprise by the members of the club. About 50 to 75 gathered at the home of Dr. and Mrs. F. A. Faust and shortly after 8 o'clock went to the Tripp home just around the corner, finding Mrs. Tripp, all unaware of their intended visit, quietly engaged in needlework.

The second surprise for Mrs. Tripp was when she was handed a package by Professor Pearson and found within a handsome loving cup inscribed, "Presented to Mrs. George B. Tripp by the Colorado Springs Musical club in appreciation of her services as president during the season of 1910-1911." After Mrs. Tripp had graciously expressed her thanks, Willet R. Willis, the newly elected president, was introduced and after expressing his appreciation of the honor he pledged his best endeavors for the extension of good music. Mrs. E. E. Talliferro sang several solos and Miss Scholter played piano solos, greatly to the delight of those present. Ice cream, cake and coffee were served by some of the young women of the club.

Fair Special Leaves 8:10 A. M. Tomorrow

Arrangements for the special train tomorrow over the Denver and Rio Grande which will carry Colorado Springs and Manitou visitors to the Fremont county fair at Canon City have been completed. According to the official schedule the special will leave Manitou at 8 o'clock Thursday morning and this city at 8:30 o'clock. A large crowd is expected to attend the fair from Colorado Springs.

Tomorrow will be a fruit day and in addition to giving away tons of fruit, a regular "Out West" day will be held. Dozens of branches, some wild and just off the plains, have already been received in Canon City and record broncho busting is promised. Over a hundred entries have been made for the horse races and a day of fast driving and riding is assured.

The special from this city will leave Canon City on its return trip at 6:30, arriving here at 9:30 that night.

RAY LOWELL VICTIM OF SMALL EXPLOSION

Ray Lowell of the Lowell-Meservey hardware firm struck a match and held it over a barrel of Sarco, to aid him in the filling of a jug of the oil, when there was an explosion of gas collected in the top of the barrel. Now he is minus eyebrows, a part of his hair and some flesh from his neck and face. The accident happened at the store on South Tejon street at about 8 o'clock yesterday morning. Mr. Lowell was treated by Dr. W. T. Gullion. His condition is not serious.

FEST BUMMLERS HERE FOR TWO DAYS' STAY

The Touring Fest Bumblers, a social organization of the American Bottlers Protective association, who were expected in Colorado Springs yesterday morning, arrived last night in their special train over the Rio Grande en route to their homes in the east, after an extensive tour of the Yellowstone park.

The Fest Bumblers for several years have made an annual tour, a feature of their organization, and upon the occasion of their first visit here three years ago, were so much delighted with the Pikes Peak region that their itinerary was altered to admit of a two days' stop here this year.

The party, which numbers about 35 people, is traveling in the most elaborate special train that has visited Colorado Springs this year. Solid compartment sleepers with buffet, club and observation cars make up the equipment of the train, which is in charge of W. R. van De Bogart, passenger agent of the New York Central lines, and E. D. Measick, representing the Pullman company.

The entire party, accompanied by Traveling Passenger Agent Walter of the Pikes Peak Cog road, will make the trip to the summit of Pikes Peak this morning in special trains.

MUSICAL CLUB ELECTION

The executive committee of the Colorado Springs Musical club met Monday afternoon with Mrs. C. C. Dickey and elected officers for the year 1911-12, as follows: Willet R. Willis, president; Mrs. Clarence Clark Hamlin, vice president; Daniel Thatcher, second vice president; Mrs. C. C. Dickey, corresponding secretary; Miss Frances Rouse, recording secretary; Miss Josephine Comstock, treasurer; Mrs. J. Dawson Hawkins, Mrs. George Hemus, Mrs. John Speed Tucker, Miss Josephine Trott, members of the advisory board. Albert C. Pearson was made chairman of the music committee with Mrs. E. E. Talliferro and M. O. Barnes the other members. Although plans for the season are still incomplete, it is certain that there will be a series of artist concerts open to the patronage of the general public and composed of stars in the musical world. Besides, it is expected that the members of the club, only, will hear some notable artists at the regular club meetings.

A. S. KRAKER PLANS TO LOCATE IN NORTHWEST

A. S. Kraker, superintendent at Kaufman's dry goods store, and connected with that establishment during his 13 years' residence in Colorado Springs, will leave about October 1 to engage in business for himself in the northwest. Mr. Kraker will go to Spokane, Wash., and may locate there, although he will investigate propositions in Canada, British Columbia and other points in that vicinity. He is well known in the dry goods and gentlemen furnishings lines in Colorado Springs, and has many friends here. He came here from Richmond, Va.

How do you make your Coffee?

Cover the ground coffee with pure, cold water and bring to a boil. Into this, pour as many cups of clear, boiling hot water as you want cups of coffee. Let stand a few moments only before using it. This is the simplest method to bring out the coffee's full flavor.

Our coffee has been specially roasted to produce this concentrated coffee flavor—to bring out the oil. That's why the flavor is always better. That's why it makes ten more cups to the pound.

CRIPPLE CREEK MINES

Special to The Gazette.
CRIPPLE CREEK, Sept. 12.—Development on an elaborate scale is planned for the Cripple Creek mine, one of the oldest producers and the first dividend paying property on the Bull Hill section.

General Manager and Vice President Thomas Ward has had the ground blocked out for leasing purposes, and reports numerous applications filed. These applications will be acted on within the next few days. The company will prosecute further work on the north and south ends of the Cripple Creek mine, if satisfactory arrangements can be made for the use of the deep shaft on the Burns and Isabella properties adjacent to the Cripple Creek mine, and in such case virgin ground known to be traversed by numerous veins will be developed. Lessees already at work in the upper levels of the old workings are making occasional shipments at this time.

Orpha May.
Active operations will shortly be resumed at the Orpha May shaft on Bull Hill. The property, owned by the Stratton estate, is under lease to White and others of Colorado Springs, and at the present writing the lease is worked through the shaft on the John A. Logan property, adjoining. Ore has been encountered in the new workings and will later be hoisted through the Orpha May shaft, when connection is made.

There are about 25 and 30 sets of leases at work on the Cripple Creek mine, and the American Eagle on Bull Hill is at this time the best profit earner for the leasing company, the Colorado Mines Investment company, and the estate.

Modoc Dividend.
A dividend of 1 cent per share, $5.00, has been paid stockholders of the Modoc Mining and Milling company, owning and operating the Modoc mine, at the Cripple Creek section.

Portland estate on Battle Mountain and Bull Hill. The company has developed one of the richest ore shoots in the mine's history at the bottom, or south end level, and the profits have brought about a reorganization of the mine. The Modoc mine is owned and controlled by a few parties of Pueblo, whose original investment, when the claim was located in the early history of the district, was but $500.

Sunshine-Galena Hill.
Lessees of the Port Pitt Mining and Milling company, owning the Sunshine on Galena hill, are sorting over and shipping the dump at the incline shaft to the Golden Cycle mill at Colorado City. There is a lot of low grade but will pay good wages to the dump operators.

W. P. H. Output.
Roach and Peckham, lessees on the W. P. H. mine on Ironclad hill, owned by the United Gold Mines company, billed out 15 cars between 150 and 500 tons of ore in August. The grade was the average milline ore.

El Paso Extension.
Contractors engaged in sinking the shaft on the Camilla's Guyot hill property, owned by the El Paso Extension Gold Mining company, report cutting through the edge of a mineralized zone. Assay tests will be made by the management of the company.

OFFICERS FOR WOMAN'S REPUBLIC NOMINATED

An important meeting of the Pikes Peak chapter of the American Woman's League was held last night in the parish house of the First Congregational church with the regent Mrs. C. A.
Eldredge, in the chair. Officers were nominated for the woman's republic as follows: Mrs. Mabel G. Lewis, president, Mrs. Theodore F. Meyer, first vice president, Mrs. Len V. Stephens, second vice president, Mrs. D. Cohen, third vice president, Miss Maud Netherson, senator, Mrs. Bunn, sang "Turn Your Faces to the Sunshine" and
"Colorado" with the composer, Mrs.
Cline at the piano.

WOULD LIMIT CIVIL SERVICE TO PATROLMEN

In a proposed ordinance which would organize the police department, outlined by J. A. Himebaugh, commissioner of public safety and acting chief of police to City Attorney McKesson, Mr. Himebaugh insists that the civil service rule shall apply to the patrolmen only. He wants the chief of police to have the power to name his captain, sergeants, detectives and clerk from the ranks of the patrolmen, and to remove the men as he sees fit. Mr.
Himebaugh is not ready to announce the name of the man whom he wishes to see at the head of the police department.

CITY CLERK CHAPMAN VISITING OLD HOME

Charles Chapman, city clerk, is enjoying a visit with relatives and friends at his old home in Gloucester, Mass., according to information received here through postal cards sent to coworkers in the city hall. Mr.
Chapman went to Gloucester, after delivering the sewer and water bonds at Boston. He will probably visit in the east three weeks longer.

News of Local Courts

Mrs. Gertrude R. McKay was granted a divorce from Dr. Frederick R. McKay by Judge Shear of the district court yesterday afternoon, a short time after the case was filed. For the first year of their separation, Mrs. McKay has been granted $100 a month alimony.
She is to have possession of the two daughters, Helen Gertrude 6 years old, and Virginia May Neosho 4 years old.
In 1907 Mrs. McKay was married in St. Louis December 31, 1907. Dr. Mc-Kay is a specialist on orthodontia.

Joseph Bish, negro, will have a hearing before Judge Dunnington this morning at 10 o'clock on a charge of assaulting another negro by the name of Stewart. He was arrested yesterday.

Charged with stealing coal in the Santa Fe railroad yards, Mrs. Christine Schlesinger was arrested yesterday on a warrant from the court of Judge Gowdy.

Ross Hull and Vernon Eaton entered pleas of guilty before Judge Shear of the district court yesterday, to robbing Sam Wallstrom, a delivery boy for the Butcher Drug company, of $22 last June. Judge Shear remanded them to fall and will pronounce sentence later. Hull and Eaton sent a phone call to the drug company, asking them to deliver a hot water bottle to a place in the 1400 block on North Walnut street and to send change for a $20 bill. When Wallstrom arrived with the bottle and money, he was robbed.

It cost Mrs. W. Haygood colored $6.65, the costs in the case, to "swing" on the jaw of Alfred Cunningham, another negro with her fist, yesterday morning. The assault took place in front of the Hemenway grocery store on South Tejon street. Cunningham brought suit and recovered $17 recently against Mrs. Haygood and Arthur Shepard on a board bill. This is said to have provoked the assault. She was tried before Judge Gowdy yesterday afternoon.

A jury in the county court will make a report to Judge John E. Little this morning, as to whether Jacob Schmidt of Colorado City intended to purchase an oil painting of "The Beer King," from G. Moeller, an artist, of 717 East Platte avenue. The case was heard yesterday afternoon and given to the jury. Moeller claims that Schmidt ordered the picture and offered him $100 for it. It was delivered to Schmidt, who returned it to another artist, associated with Moeller. The man to whom Schmidt gave it has left the city and so has the picture.

Bread Baking
an Art

Many good cooks acknowledge their inability to make good bread.

The best home methods have been reduced to an exact science in our bakeries.

Our baker gives time to nothing else but the making of perfect home-made bread.
Our bake shop is as clean and sanitary as you could wish. The materials are the best that money can buy. Measuring has long since been discarded as being too inaccurate. Every ingredient is carefully weighed. A good home receipt is followed.
You can free yourself of the drudgery of baking-day and still keep your family contented.

D. W. Smith's Home-made bread solves the problem. You'll never know how good it is till you try it.
